94,822,431 WHITES

Census Also Reports Number of Negroes, Indians, Chinese and Japanese.

The country contains 94,822,431 white persons, 10.463,013 negroes, 242,959 111,025 Japanese, 61.686 Chinese and 9,485 others, according to compilations of the census bureau just made public. The Japanese race exceeded by far the rate of growtn in the last ten years of all other classes. Unofficial estimates of the increase in the number of Japanese in the United States, particularly on the Pacific coast, were borne out in the official tabulation, which revealed a rate of expansion of 53.9 per cent during the decade of 1910-20. California absorbed 30,596 of the total growth of absorbed 30,336 of the total growth of 28,868 Japanese in this period. On January 1, 1920, there were 71,952 Japanese in California. The remainder of the increase was distributed largely in the states of Washington, where 17,388 now make their home; Oregon, 4,151, and Litah, Colorado and New York, with between two and three thousand each.

Expansion Percentages.

Expansion Percentages.

The white population showed only at 16 per cent expansion for the decade and the negro, 6.5 per cent. Both the Indian and Chinese groups dwindled 8.6 per cent and 13.8 per cent, respectively. The growth in the white population was considerably less than the rate for the previous decade, which was 22.3 per cent. This decline, the statement said, was due principally to the marked reduction in immigration during the world war. An estimate based on the excess of births over deaths and on the excess of immigration over emigration showed a migration over emigration showed a difference by only a small fraction of 1 per cent from the total whites enumerated.

enumerated.

The greatest numerical increase in the white population was shown in the east north central division, embracing the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, where the increase was 3,011,363. The middle Atlantic states division had a growth for the decade of 2.761,505. In the south Atlantic and east and west south central portions the whites showed a combined increase of 3,-586,107.

Migration of Negroes.

Migration of Negroes.

The rate of increase in the negro population, which was not perceptibly affected by immigration or emigration, was the lowest on record, according to the statement.

Evidence of the migration of the negro to the north and west was found in the figures showing nearly three-fourths of the increase in the negro population, or 472,418 of the 635,250 gain, in these sections. A growth of only 162,832, or about one-fourth, was reported for the south, despite the fact that 85 per cent of the total negro race is still below the Mason-Dixon line. The percentage increase of negroes in the west was 55.1; in the north, 43.3 per cent, and in the south, 1.9 per cent.

Michigan, with 60,082 negroes, leads all states in percentage of increase, with 251 per cent. Illinois and Other Michigan, with 60,082 negroes, leads all states in percentage of increase, with 251 per cent. Illinois and Ohio, with increases of 67.1 per cent, showed further evidence of the northward movement of negroes. Pennsylvania's negro population growth for the period was 46.7 per cent, its black race now exceeding in number those of Maryland and Kentucky.

Indian Decrease Explained.

Indian Decrease Explained.

Decrease in the Indian race in the ten-year period was probably due in part, it was said, to the enumeration. as Indians. in 1910 and as whites in 1920 of persons having only slight traces of Indian blood.

Of the total decrease in the Indian race, 22,724, by far the greater part, 18.876, was in Oklahoma alone. The only pronounced increase was reported for North Carolina—from 7.851 to 11.824. Other states where increases occurred were Louisiana, Texas, Montana, Arizona and Californi.
